Jean-Paul Samputu

Samputu is a singer, songwriter, and musician from Rwanda. He has established himself as one of the most prominent African artists on the world stage. A winner of the prestigious Kora Award (the "African Grammy") in 2003, he travels the world as a cultural ambassador for Rwanda, bringing to his audiences not only traditional African singing, dancing, and drumming, but also a message of peace and reconciliation. A survivor of the genocide in Rwanda, Samputu takes us to the most positive place of humanity through his spirit and graciousness. More than a talented and inspiring musician, Samputu is a model for anyone who wants to make a difference in this world today.

Sunggon Kim Ph.D

Dr. Sunggon Kim is a politician and philanthropist who engages in the peace movement, in particular he has contribute to building a peace among multi-religions around the world. Summary of the Peace Dialogue

The Korean Peninsula is the site of a great deal of tension. There are very real concerns among the populations that these times may be the lead-up to a 2nd Korean War. Given the presence of nuclear capabilities, this is raising the fearful specter of a bloody and genocidal nuclear war.

It is with a view to preventing further escalation of rhetoric and possible genocide, and answering a call to address very real fears of the Korean populations on all sides in the peninsula, that the Won Buddhist Community of South Korea is working to secure a meeting with diverse religious leaders, cultural and political agents of change, from within the Peninsula as well as those representing the international community.

This Peace Dialogue in Paju is the first step towards global peace campaign of ‘Awakening Humanity’ to prevent genocide and atrocity crime around the world based, on forgiveness campaign which is one of the greatest peace movement in Rwanda. Hence, this dialogue is a start point of the global peace movement from Forgiveness to Awakening Humanity.

Forgiveness is the most powerful underutilized weapon against terrorism and atrocities

Awakening Humanity is the only possible solution against terrorism and atrocities.
